Floorball officially included in SEA Games Charter's list

10 December 2013 – It is official! Floorball is now included in the South-east Asian Games Charter's list of sports. This means that floorball can now be included as a featured sport from 2015 SEA Games onwards.

The news of floorball's inclusion was confirmed at the council meeting at the Thingaha Hotel in Naypyitaw, Myanmar today.

Singapore National Olympic Council secretary-general Chris Chan said that other than the 30 confirmed sports, there is room for another six to eight sports at the 2015 SEA Games. Floorball was highlighted as a potential candidate in the running to be chosen as one of the featured sports to be played on home ground in 2015.

With the recent double win by the Men's and Women's floorball teams at Naypyitaw and the rapid growth of the sport in Singapore and the region, the Singapore Floorball Association is hopeful that floorball will receive strong support to feature in the 2015 SEA Games.
